

SONGZHUANG MICRO COMMUNITY PARK

Urban Rooms for Social Encounter

Songzhuang Micro Community Park is a public gathering space designed in response to the diverse and vibrant community in Songzhuang, a district notorious for its art and culture. The park acts as a central gathering space for people of all ages and identities, creating an ever changing live, interactive display of the local culture and community.

The L-shaped plot features a series of outdoor 'rooms' along a linear loop path, with connecting elements meandering between a street-side pavement to an extending park. The path along the park collects the most diverse group of people onto a single array, creating an exhibition of human interaction between people that may have never crossed paths otherwise.
