by faux arches as to create a mirroring effect with the ones that hug the outer corridor downstairs. In this corridor, there will be built-in seating for residents to rest while awaiting a turn at the medical center, or before entering the mosque, all under the cool shade of a tree. Lastly, acknowledging the rural aspect of the village, and the fact that most people employed work in agriculture, the building will host a number of rooftop gardens provided to sustain the meals of inpatient visitors and staff at the medical center.

We believe that by having a collaborative and integrated design of this community space, we'll be able to build trust amongst community members, and together create a platform to improve their lives.

COLLECTIVE GOALS AND OBJECTIVES

By building the Arab Al-Sanae Community Hub, our goal is to achieve self-sustaining rural development. By keeping the community united in creating better health, educational, and financial outcomes, a higher investment will be drawn to rural centers to expand and grow. Eventually, this cycle will lead to a long-term access to socio-economic resources showing more self-sustainability and less dependence on external benefactors.

In this goal we strongly emphasize the opportunity of prosperity for all. This means a communal commitment to inclusion for all residents, especially marginalized groups, women, and persons with disabilities. Engaging them in the maintenance of the center, and providing services that meet their needs, alongside those of everyone, is of the utmost importance when designing and building the community hub.
